BISHOP'S STATEMENT

Modern Churchmen's Union Takes Exception to Letter Referring to Virgin Birth.

BOSTON, Dec. 14 .-- A statement embodying objections to the pastoral letter adopted by the House M Bishops of the Episcopal Church at Dallas Tex., on Nov. 14, has been prepared by the executive committee of the Modern Churchmen's Union and mailed to every members of the union in the coun-

The statement asserts that the pastoral letter "is not an authoritative utterance" because under the constitution of the church the House of Bishops has no power to decide "the limits of liberty permissible in the interpretation of the creeds," and expresses dissent from the letter's insistence upon belief in the virgin birth.

The Union is an organization of clergy and laymen. Its commit met here under the presidency of Dr. Elwood Worcester of Em manuel Church and among those associated with him in preparation of the statement were Prof. Charles M. Addison of the Cambridge Theodegical School, the Rev. Filmore P. Sturges of Providence, Dr. Stuart M. Tyson of New York, Dr. Carl Crammer of Philadelphia, and Bishop Edward L. Parsons of Cali-

While "gladly recognizing the sincere purpose of the bishops to give advice," and stating that their inions are not cannonically binding the statement says:

"Disagreement among the best and reliability of the evidence for the virgin birth is well known. Leading conservative theologians have recently stated that belief in the virgin birth is not essential t. elief in the incarnation.

"We can see no reason for allowing a non-literal interpretation of certain clauses in the creed while denying the right of such interpretation in the clause con-

U. S. COURT DISSOLVES

Decree Prohibits Interchange of Statistics Enabling Concerns to Control Production.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Federal ludge Knox yesterday signed a decree dissolving the Cement Manu-facturers' Protective Association. He also ordered the association to continue the practice of interhanging statistics regarding profuction and granted all other de-crees sought by the Government. On Oct. 23, Judge Knox ordered issolution of the association on he ground that it operated in vioation of the Sherman anti-trust law. His decision was reached after extended litigation by the Government. In his order the Judge extended the dissolution to include all the corporate and individual members of the association. Part of the opinion of Judge Knox was to the effect that the exchange of statistics between mbers of the association enabled them to regulate their production and by common consent and action fix it so that the supply would always be a lap or two behind the

PRINCE TO SUE FOR RECOVERY OF REMBRANDT PAINTINGS

His Offer of $520,334 Spurned by Widener, Youssoupoff Will Resort to Courts.
By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA. Dec. 14. Formal refusal of a $520,334 check for the return of two Rembrandt paintings by counsel for Joseph E. Widener, millionaire art collector, yesterday forced the hand of Prince Youssoupoff, Russian nobleman, original owner of the paintings, who had hoped to recover them under the terms of a contract, without legal procedure. Counsel for the Prince announced that suit would be instituted at once for their recovery: The Rembrandts, long in posses tion of the Youssoupoffs, were disosed of to Widener in August, 1921, for a loan of 100,000 pounds sterling. The Prince maintains that the original agreement of sale the purchase price, plus 8 per cent

Two-Pant Suits

These Suits offer very attractive values. They are well tailored of good quality worsteds, cassimeres, serges and other popular woolens. They come in blues, grays, browns, and mixtures in stripes, checks, overplaids and novelty effects. Styles for men and young men.

Two-Pant Prep Suits

High school and college youths are perhaps a bit more fastidious about their clothes than most men. That's why we feel that they are sure to appreciate these Suits. The newest ideas are represented, yet with the conservatism good taste demands.

'So Mrs. Slopsky's Store on Franklin Avenue Is Bankrupt.

purchase large quantities of merchandise, for which she was un prepared to pay, by promises of fuure good business, 90-day pay ents and similar arguments, was told yesterday by Mrs. Belle Slops ky of 4515A Alice avenue, at nearing before Referee Coles of her voluntary petition in bankrupt y, filed after the faileure of her Franklin avenue millinery and dry goods business last September. Mrs. Slopsky told how, although her husband had a well-paid posi ion, she started her store last February with a stock of milliner: valued at $500. Business was "prety good," the stock was increased and the business enlarged until i August .Mrs. Slopsky had not only a millinery store, but a ladies' ready-to-wear and a dry goods establishment as well.

Then Came Burglary. Mrs. Slopsky "plunged" on the prospect of winter business, purchasing on credit merchandise valued in excess of $10,000. This '90-day goods" had hardly been arranged on the shelves when, or the night of Sept. 8 her store was obbed and practically the entire stock taken. The same week creditors levied on the remaining goods and the fixtures, and a short time later Mrs. Slopsky filed her petition in bankruptcy, setting forth Habilities of $11,416 and assets o $2500. According to the report o the trustee, the goods and fixtures attached brouhgt $580 at public

"It was all the fault of those smen," Mrs. Slopsky told Ref-Coles. "They offered reduced ices on winter merchandise, and ive my 90 days to pay for it. They aid business would be good and would easy have the money in 90 ays. Then the robbery took in st goods and the Constable the

Mrs. Slopsky told Referee Coles police Sunday morning, Sept She and her husband immedi went to the store, but after ing the disorder resulting from look the rest I had nothing to go ack for," she said. She estimated that value of the goods taken in excess of $10,000. Her entire stock at that time was valued at approxi-mately $14,000, she said.

Mrs. Slopsky was questioned length regarding the sudden purthe subsequent robbery. The po-lice never got the robbers, she never inquired as to the recovery of the merchandise. "They knew where I lived," she said, "and it they ever found anything they should have come and told me.' Practically all of the liabilities set forth in Mrs. Slopsky's petition are for merchandise taken in this at-the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14 .-To widen the scope of a search for Mrs. Adelia Mengers Ashley Fisher, her husband, Frang G. Fisher, of this city, who alleges ready married, and that she disan peared Nov. 5 with $4000 which belonged to him, offered a reward today for her capture, of half of what is left of the money. Fisher asserted that his wife obtained the money from him by saying that she needed it to defend herself in murder case in Olahoma City, where she declared she had killed

Fisher, who is a hotel proprietor. said that he had met Mrs. Ashley in a restaurant about Oct. 1 and hat he discovered that he had known her parents at Eugene, Mo .. where he had been a farmer. He recalled that he had known her as little girl, he said. Fisher, who had been looking for his wife in Oklahoma City, returned yesterday and obtained a warrant charging her with bigamy. Fisher said that he had been told the woman had returned to her other husband.

TEXAS LOSES ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Standard Off Co. of New Jersey is not doing business in Texas beanse it owns the majority stock of the Humble Oil & Refining Co. of Hosuton, Judge Calhoun of the Travis County District Court holds in the State's anti-trust suit against the Humble Company. In deciding against the State yesterday, the Court said he was guided by decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

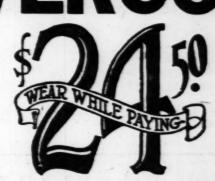

The Court held "that the mere fact that a foreign company has acquired the stock of a Texas company does not constitute doing business in Texas, by a foreign company."

GIRL, 6, ON WAY TO SCHOOL, HIT BY AUTO

Driver Failed to Give Name After Child Said She Had Not Been Hurt.

Roberta Coyne, 6-year-old daughter of Robert Coyne, 5948 Bartmer avenue, did not think she was badly hurt after being knocked down by an automobile yesterday afternoon and continued on her way 'o school. An hour later she became so ill that she had to be taken home, where a physician discovered she was suffering from con-cussion of the brain and probable nternal injuries.

The automobile, a closed car, occupied by a middle-aged woman and a man, stopped after the accident. The man, who was driving, asked Roberta if she was hurt and when she replied in the negative he took her name and address, but did not disclose his own identity, and permitted her to continue her ourney on foot.

Later he overtook her as she was about to enter the St. Rose arochial school at Goodfellow and Etzel avenues, and again inquired if she was severely hurt. One of the teachers noted what appeared to be a superficial cut on Roberta's head, but as the child did not complain the motorist again drove away without giving his name or

A physician summoned to the coyne home later in the afternoon said the cut was deeper than it at first appeared. He also inferred from the pains described by Roberta that she was hurt internally, though to what extent he was unable to tell.

The accident occurred at Hamilton and Bartmer avenues, when Roberta and her sister, Martine, 7, were on their way back to school from lunch. They had waited for a City Limits street car to pass and then had run into the path of the automobile, Martine narrowly escaping being knocked down.

Policeman Severely Injured When

Knocked Down by Auto.
Patrolman William Sedevic, 63 years old, of 1708 Allen avenue, suffered fractured ribs, a cut on the head and a possible skull frac-ture when knocked down by an automobile at Compton avenue and Olive street at 2 p. m. yesterday. He was returning from the uptown office of President Brockman of the Police Board, where he had delivered a message from Police Headquarters, and as he was running across Olive street to board an eastbound street car an automobile driven by Charles Pate of the Plaza Hotel, turning west into Olive, street from Compton avenue, hti him. He was taken to the city

John Utry, 36, of 2345 South eventh street, was cut about the head and legs as he was knocked down and dragged by an automoile in front of his home.

INDIANS IN PARIS MAY BE BAND PROMOTING MOTION PICTURE

Possibly Are Warriors From Sho shone Reservation, Commissioner Says

Burke, Indian Commissioner.

Commissioner Burke said yesterday that he had no information that the Indians had invaded Paris, but that the delegation mentioned in dispatches might be those who had gone to England to advertise a picture. Nine men, six women, seven children and one infant had been hired in August by the film company, which gave bond insur-ing their safe return.

He said that when the bond was signed the Indians had not menioned a pica to the League of Nations for rights. Several months ago a delegation from the Six Nations of Canada appealed to the league for help.

St. Louis' $7,000,000 Municipal Bridge.

Bridge Plan of C. of C. Committee

HE chief proposals embodied in the plan, advocated by the Chamber of Commerce Terminals Committee, for solving the Free Bridge problem, providing an exchange of use of the Municipal and Eads bridges, as they affect the public, are: Municipal Bridge to be used for all passenger trains.

Highway decks of Eads, Municipal and McKinley bridges to toll-free for vehicular traffic and pedestrians. Lower deck of Eads bridge to be used by interurban ele lines; Merchants' bridge to be used for freight only. Eighth street tunnel to be used for East Side suburban traffic; suburban passenger station, for steam lines from West, to be built on Market street, at or East of Ninth street.

Union Station and Mill Creek Valley facilities to be enlarged;

Union Station train shed to be removed, and replaced with modern canopies over each pair of tracks, which provide shelter for passengers, while permitting smoke and gases to escape.

Extensive improvements and exchanges of freight depots in East St. Louis, to reduce waste of time and mileage. Outer freight classification yards to be established. Relay passenger depot to be replaced with adequate modern structure.

The Citizens' Supervisory Comnittee on bond issue expenditure yesterday, for the second time in hree months, appointed a committee for conference with city officials regarding methods of procedure in matters pertaining to passage and approval of ordinances for bond issue projects. O. J. McCawley, Mrs. John S. Payne and Alvin Carpenter were instructed to confer with the Board of Public Service on the question of whether proposed or-dinances should be approved by the board before submission to the committee or should be recom-mended by the committee before ransmission to the board.

Members of the committee had similar conference with mer of the Board of Aldermen in Sep-tember. It was the understanding of committee members that the conference with aldermen res in a decision that ordinance be approved by the Board of Pubsideration of the committee.

I live at 4500 west, and if I get a seat going home and remain so all the way, when I get off the car I am stiff from sitting, and if I remain standing all the way my legs ache from standing and trying to balance myself.

My suggestion is that as a friendly act towards others and also ourselves that all persons that have a friendly feeling towards each other, that have been seated halfway home should get up and stand for the balance of the way and allow those that have been standing to have a seat for the rest of the way.

Now I don't know how many will be willing to do this, but I for one will from now on, and others can do as their conscience guides them.

City Tax Collection Dditor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE city of St. Louis is losing money in more ways than one, in assessments. I don't know who the men are who are in charge of this work, but they are certainly not assessing property at its fair value. One party I know of has three houses; he was offered $11,000 for last month; 'they are assessed at $3500 each, not through any pull, but simply inefficiency on the part of the assessor. There is no one to look after the interests of the city. Three-fourths of the towns in this country have a poll ax, which amounts to $Ma year. Before a person votes, he must pay this tax. We have none here. Not one person in 10 here pays a personal tax. No one should lain about paying taxes in St. Louis if they realize the value they get for their sey, with all the free hospitals, clinics, parks, echools, free books, etc. I am for the city collecting every cent due it, then Individual. Should a situation this kind develop in any Federal reserve district, the Federal Reserve Bank there would be eliminated as a factor in the financial community or would be virtually under the control of such a group." Dawes' Remedy.

The constructive course, the report declared, lies in relief for the national banks. Such a program. Dawes said, should permit continvation of State bank privileges level. same time the operations of th national institutions would be lift-ed up to the same plane of com-petition. He said that at present the National banks were handicapped by hard and fast obligation ta the Federal Government which they were bound to observe.

"Either the national banks should be accorded the full branch banking privileges of the State banks and extensive branch banking be permitted in the Federal reserve system," Dawes added, "or statewide branch banking should not be permitted in the reserve system. There is no middle ground. It is a question of either embarking upon a career of branch banking. ,or. for all practical purposes,

"The Comptroller of the Curreney suggests that a fair and reasonable solution of the question of branch banking in the United States can be made by Congress through enactment into law of the substance of the resolutions recently adopted by the Federal reserve board, at the same time granting to national banks the power, with the approval and under the general supervision of the comptroller, to establish and operate branch banks or branch offices under similar territorial restrictions, but definitely forbidding the establishment of such facilities by national banks in those localiwhere such privileges are forbidden to State banks and trust

Turning to bank operations, the Comptroller reported that dividends aggregating $179,000,000 were paid by the national banks in the year ending Nov. 1, the largest ever paid by the national banks of ountry. He reported also that $203,500,000 had been added to the combined profits account of the national banks in the same period. This represents an increase of more than $20,000,000 over the preceding year's earnings of the national Committee on Indian Affairs Especially Approves Abolition of the "Give Away Dance."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A comprehensive program for dealing with problems affecting the Indian wards of the Government was included in the resolutions adopted yesterday by the Advisory Committee of 100 on Indian affairs, the semi-official body named by the Secretary of the Interior. The resolution commended the general purpose and spirit of va-rious orders of the Indian Commissioner on dances. The orders were interpreted by members of the committee as discouraging only those undesirable dances which might be considered injurious to morals or otherwise, such as the "give away dance," which often leads to the giving away of the individual's most valuable posses-

Northern Tissue—fully in keeping with your spotless fixtures

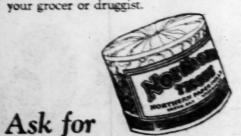

Gleaming porcelain tile, lovely snow-white linen, immaculate tub and basin! There's only one paper worthy of such a bathroom -pure white Northern Tissue!

The selection of such an article may seem a trifling matter, but it is the attention to such details that marks the successful housekeeper and hostess-that explains why some women always seem to achieve the effect they want.

But it's not the finer sensibilities alone that suggest this pure white, superfine tissue. More important still is its hygienic purity. It is made under perfect sanitary conditions; it is soft, firm, highly absorptive, and is packed so as to reach you in its original state of purity.

Best of all, it costs no more than ordinary paper. Each package is the same generous size and contains a great deal more than is usually found in rolls that appear much larger.

Easy to get: just say "Northern Tissue" to Toshikiko Taketomi, first secretary, said that he knew of no rea-son why collars should have been chosen rather than shoes, shirts or He explained that many apanese wear American-cut lothes and that they might like to have American collars to match.

Attention was called to the shipment by a communication to the "Letters From the People" column of the Post-Dispatch, which was answered by P. H. Byrns, executive ecretary, St. Louis Chapter of the Red Cross, who stated that he was viring to Washington for particu-

James L. Fieser, acting chair-nan of the national organization, has telegraphed Byrns that the ollars were purchased through the Association of Collar Manufacturers of Troy, N. Y., and not through the Department of Commerce, as stated in the communication. He said that these supplies were purchased upon direct requisition of the Japanese Imperial Emergency Relief Bureau, confirmed by the Japanese embassy here. He added that "from advice received, they are intended for the use of the clerical classes rendered destitute in the disaster."

In a letter which was not sent, ne explained that a representative of the manufacturers' association nad conferred with Red Cross and Department of Commerce officials, nd that an extremely low price had been paid for the collars, which were of good quality.

Other Red Cross officials were urprised that such a purchase had been made, but later suggested there might be some national 'phychological" reason for the hipment. The self-respect of a Japanese clerk. It was suggested might be increased by a white col-lar, thereby enabling him to do better work. This theory was not entioned by Secretary Taketomi. How Purchases Are Authorized.

One official explained that the imperial Bureau had almost carte blanche in ordering supplies, but that when an unusual item was confirmation was obtained from the Japanese Embassy. Con firmation, it was said, was secured in this case, though Taketomi de-clared that if confirmation was ought he knew nothing of it. He said that he was usually informed

After the explanation that the collars were bought for the clerical classes, the Red Cross office said there was nothing more to say about the matter; that the requisition had been made by the Japanese relief agency, confirmed shipment had been made.

SHAW DENIES HE GUT PLAY TO LET COMMUTERS CATCH TRAINS

"The Performance Will Last Only

Six Hours," Author Assures

New Yorkers,
Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Pulitzer
Publishing Cos. the New York World and the Post-Dispatch
LONDON, Dec. 14.—George Bernard Shaw today denied the story from New York that he had cut his new play, "Saint Joan," to be produced by the Theater Guild, so commuters could catch the last train home.

"The performance will last only six hours," he remarked, "so the public need not be alarmed. I do not suppose they will catch their train in any case. If they start sitting out the play they will forget all about trains."

A new York story was that Shaw had at first suggested that the railways change their schedules, but then consented to cut his play.

"It's all nonsense." he said. "Of course one always cuts plays to begin with. Sometimes my plays are 10 miles long in the original. Very often they are 17 or 18 times the length at which they are eventualproduced. It is true some re-hearsals were given in New York from an early draft. But I stopped these at once because they were not from my prompt copy."

HATFIELD, VETERAN OF FEUDS AND 4 OTHERS FLEE FROM JAIL

the Associated Press. BRISTOL, Va., Dec. 14.—Five prisoners, headed by John Hatfield, years old, veteran of the Hatfield-McCoy feud, are at large in the Cumberland Mountains, having escaped last night from the Wise County jail.

A Sheriff's posse was organized after the alarm was sounded by an inmate of the jail as the five men slid down a fire hose from the fourth floor of the building. The BORDEOROEDE OSOSOSOSOSOS pursuit was handicapped by a heavy snowfall.

Hatfield is a cousin of "Devil inse" Hatfield and is under sentence of 20 years imprisonment for murder. Stephen Wood and Alex Mullins, who escaped with him, also are charged with murder. Two others who participated in the break were serving sentences for sser crimes.

According to reports here, Hatfield told the jailer Wednesday that he intended to escape, but nothing was found after a thorugh search to justify the belief that the delivery was actually the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 14 .- John F Masters, father of head of the brokerage ouse of R. H. Masters & Co. hich failed last February for $700,000, yesterday, was held by Federal Judge Julius W. Mack after he had committed what Judge Mack termed "the most deliberate, outright and damnable perjury" he had seen during his 20 years on the bench.

FATHER ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Held by Judge for Testimony Son's Bankruptcy Case.

McMasters, appearing in an ac-tion brought by attorneys for trustees of the bankrupt firm, de-clared that $17,000 credited to him against his son's bank account was in payment of a $19,000 loan. Evidence then was submitted that the $19,000 was paid back previous to the $17,000 payments, and that he $17,000 was 47 % per cent of profits of the firm. Judge Mack then stated his disbeliefs in Mc-Master's statements and declared he would be held for the grand COEUMBUS, O., Dec. 14—Athletic Director Yost of Michigan, has written for a block of 20,000 scats for Michigan fans for annual Ohio State-Michigan football game here next Nov. 15, it was announced by University officials.

On Oct. 21, 1922, the Buckeyes and Wolverines engaged in dedicating the new Ohio Stadium, played before the greatest throng that ever saw a football game in the Middle West—the official figures showed an attendance of 73, 000. Buckeye officials are hopeful that "History will repeat itself." Athletic Director St. John of Ohio State believes that the normal seating capacity of the studiun—62,068—at least is assured.

It is pointed out that if Michigan can fill its block of 20,000 seats, it will establish a record for the Western Conference.

MELLON TAX REDUCTION BILL ·TO BE MADE PUBLIC MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.-Tax reduction and bonus forces center their attention on the House Ways and Means Committee, the origiand Means Committee, the originating point of all revenue legislation. Adherents of the Mellon plan claim a decisive victory in the selection of the new Republican members of the new Republican committee—McLaughlin of Michigan, Kearns of Ohio, Childblom of Illinois and Crowther of New York.

Chairman Green reported to the Republican committeemen his convices at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Gadd. 2920 North News Stead avenue, Saturday, Dec. 15, 1823, et al., and the late Louise Nuelle and our dear mother of New York.

Grand Jury Recommends Proceed ings to Abrogate Two Road Contracts.

KENNETT, Mo., Dec. 14 .- The grand jury which convened here Monday by order of Circuit Judge Walker to inquire into the letting of certain road contracts in Dunk-In County reported one indictment yesterday. The names of the de-fendants have not been made pub-

A report was submitted recom mending that proceedings be instituted at once by the Attorney-Gen eral and the State Highway Commission to abrogate the contracts for the building of road projects 221A and 221B in Dunklin County. Several weeks ago an investigation by the Attorney-General's office disclosed there had been an agreement between certain bidders, the Creek Construction Co. and Charles A Crow of this county, to the effect that Crow was to refrai from bidding on contracts to be let for the building of the roads designated as projects 221A and 221B so that the Creek Construction Co would be the successful bidder, and that Crow was to receive $2000 and the Creek company was to buy gravel for the work from Crow. Crow was said to have declared he entered the agreement to expose

> Third Instalment. By MARIE MARGUERITE FAHMY.

A ilah illa Lah wa Mohamad Rassoul Allah.

It was by uttering these words in the presence of two "Shiek" (priests) at the "Mehkemeh Charie" or Religiou Court that I became a Mussulman. As I have already stated, the ceremony took place on Jan. 11, this year.

The declaration, translated into English, is the familiar "There is one God and Mohammed is His Prophet."

After I had signed the necessary documents in the Arabic name Munira, by which I was henceforth known among Moslems, the formalities were completed. I was a Mussulman.

The name Munira, which means "Shining," had been chosen for me because it was that of Ali's mother.

A little time before this I had been greatly disquieted by my husband's obvious desire to find some pretext to send away my young sister Yvonne, who had so far acompanied me. At the beginning of January he picked a quarrel with her on the ground that she had walked along the Guezira golf course without an

"Ali," she replied, "I am not your wife. Let her stay in the house and let your people keep watch over her if you wish, but I hope that I can make a modest 'footing' without criticism." You will perceive that Yvonne is a girl of some spirit. Ali

Fahmy answered in an authoritative tone: "My dear Yvonne, the sister-in-law of Ali Fahmy cannot walk about without a suite." Two or three little incidents like that gradually developed into sterner measures. Suddenly, for example, he forbade her to Three days later my sister received a letter from her fiance you!" said Ali sarcastically. Then he went out, bought a ticket for her return and handed it to me, saying: "Give that to your sister! She must go home. I cannot accept the moral responsibility if she stays." Entreaties were in vain, and to my great sorrow my sister had to leave the country.

For a little time after that our life consisted in going out together and meeting friends.

One Oriental custom which I did not like was the habit of retiring and disrobing for a siesta after lunch. I used to take a book and sit reading at the side of my husband while he slept. When we went out to make the classic tour of the pyramids he frequently drove his car at the mad speed to which I have already referred, priding himself on overtaking everybody he saw. The Journey From Cairo to Luxor.

Once my conversion to Islam was acomplished, we stayed at o until Jan. 12, and we left on that day for Luxor, leaving to the advocates the care of finishing the formalities of the Mussulman marriage and giving them instructions to telegraph to us when everything was ready.

The journey from Cairo to Luxor is usually made by train (12 or 13 hours), but we took the way of the Nile and traveled in my husband's yacht. This journey is slow, and it was nearly 10 days before we arrived at Luxor.

I think it was on Feb. 8, 1922, that they telegraphed from Cairo that everything was ready for the religious marriage. My husband and I returned with all speed to Cairo by rail. We arrived at 9 o'clock in the evening almost without luggage, having left everything on the yacht, which was, in the meantime, to return up the Nile to wait for us at Assiout.

Leaving for the moment the remarkable story of that long journey to Luxor, I will describe the Mussulman marriage cere-

In Egypt such a wedding is generally celebrated with great magnificence. I, however, chose as simple a ceremony as possible, and in order to show the contrast, I will describe first a typical marriage so that it can be compared with the very quiet proceedings by which I elected to become a bride according to the Moslem faith.

It is the general custom to spend much money on this occasion. The festival lasts for several days, and all the guests eat either at little tables or at sumptuous buffets.

The husband is supposed not to have seen his future bride before the night of the wedding.

A Great Bridal Procession. The night before a feast is celebrated at her house and the next day, which is chosen to be a Thursday in conformity with the law of the Prophet (Friday being the holy day corresponding to Sunday)—the bride is taken to the house of her husband in a great procession, preceded by a band, chaoniches (native policemen) and servants carrying flowers or torches. The bride is in a closed carriage or car covered with a cashmere shawl and rich stuffs of embroidered silk. At the doors of the carriage stand the eunuchs, or, if the house does not possess them, the most devoted servants wearing ancient costumes. The carriage is followed by many others in which the members of the family drive. During the journey the members of the family throw through the windows of the carriages pieces of new silver to the poor. These are supposed to bring good luck to those who pick them up.

When the bride arrives at the house of her husband it is the custom for a sheep to be killed at the door. I have been told that sometimes a calf is killed and the bride passes over a few drops

At her husband's house a great feast is prepared.

As it is the custom to have many guests, the garden or else the street is chosen for the men and the house for the women. But whichever is selected it is transformed into a splendid hall, square or rectangular, by means of Oriental hangings artis-

In the great hall of the harem a throne is placed on a dais. Here the bride takes her place and assumes a motionless attitude. In the course of the evening she changes her dress three times. She wears a silver-colored dress, a gold one and then a white one.

Toward 11:30 in the evening a little procession is formed by the young men. They carry bouquets of flowers and wax tapers and lead the bridegroom to the nearest mosque, if there is one. If not they walk in procession around the hall.

Then, arrived at the door of the harem, the bridegroom is received by the oldest women. He enters with his father and nearest rela-tives and is received with cries of joy as he approaches the bride is veiled. It is at this moment that the veil is raised and that he is supposed to see her for the first

What a contrast was my own Moslem wedding with the cere-

Contrary to my expectation, my husband now asked me to what was about to take place, and waive the right of divorce. I refused. When it became apparent that there would be no immediate yielding on either side we adjourned to another room and continued our arguments.

These lasted four hours! Perhaps I should say here what this right of divorce means to a European woman. Once I had become a Mussulman my husband there horrified, unable to speak had only to say before two witnesses "I put away this woman." and I was no longer his wife. I, on the other hand, could not divorce him if he exercised his right of taking three other wives.

A Long Siege.

With the exception of my advo-cate, they did all they could to persuade me to sign. They entreated, cajoled, and even put pen in my This had started at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 6 I was worn out. Having gone through the civil contract of marriage, I felt t was useless to resist further, and I agreed.

In addition to the Cadi and his clerk and Ali Fahmy and myself effect. there were present Assim Bey, brother-in-law of my husband and head of the family; Mahmud Fahmy Bey, my husband's lawyer; Maitre Asswad, my advocate, and Said Enaul, the secretary.

The Cadi asked me if I was willing to become the wife of Ali Fahmy. I had to reply in Arabic "Tazawagt Ali Fahmy" (I marry Ali Fahmy), and he had to make a similar declaration, addressing me as Manira.

The papers were signed. By Mussulman law we were man and

That night a great dinner was given in my honor at Shepheard's Hotel, the costliest wines were served and there was boisterous merry-making until the early hours of the morning.

I now return to what happened on the visit to Luxor which preceded the religious ceremony.

Ali Is Suspicious.

Before the yacht sailed All had become nervous, somewhat spiteful ing, but among the women, in the and even suspicious. He suppressed all my correspondence and even had the sheets of note paper counted like Dr. Bartolo in the "Barber of Seville." It was a veritable censorship. There were on board about 25 such occasions an, extraordinary sailors and domestics, all black, display of jewels and of evening and my maid, Aimee Pain. Still I was happy to make this voyage fashion.

Things are so arranged that the whom I still loved more than my The scenery, the granite mountains -all seemed so imposing. There were no untoward incidents at the outset. Toward 7 o'clock in the evening of the first day we cast anchor, for it was not possible to navigate at night because of the sandbanks.

Thus we proceeded until the 31st of the month when there occurred what I will call the amazing incident of the tugboat. Everything appeared calm when there approached us a tugboat which Ali Fahmy thought was handled in such a way as to come needlessly close to our yacht. At the moment he was taking his siesta lying on a divan wearing costly black silk pajamas and the customary Oriental slippers.

Suddenly, as the tug neared us, he jumped up in a rage, furiously blowing the whistle which he car-

Not satisfied with that, shouting to three sailors to accompany him, he seized a thick stick and jumped into the fast motor boat which was always at the rear of the yacht. By now the tug was some distance away, but, racing furiously after it, he yelled to its captain to stop.

Mad With Rage.

The tug keeps on. All maneuvers the motor boat alongside and jumps on board. Mad with rage and flourishing his stick he rushes up to two old native pilots, wearing their picturesque turbans and galabiahs (long robes). "Get into my motor boat," he orders. Terrified, the men obey. Then, at full speed, he brings

Why try to deceive yourself into thinking that you are what you should be when you know that you are not what you pretend to be?

Supposing you were as good a man as you try to lead others to think

Supposing you were as good a husband and father as you tell on occasion when you want to show off.

Wouldn't it be a fine thing if you really were the loyal, true friend you would lead certain persons to think. There are times in your life when you would give anything you possess to be able to look into your own heart and recognize its sincerity.

To be a real, true-blue fellow would require some sacrifice, and you balk there. It is all right to be the real thing if you can continue the course you want selfishly, but sacrifice—that is different.

Is this your idea? (Copyright, 1923.)

Echoes that ring from some distant shore, drifting down time and space, luring men onward forevermore, drawn by their beauty and grace. This is the Dream that shall not come true; this is the Perfect Plan; this is the Phantom that all men woo, not to be won by man. Men have gone thirsting their whole lives through, lacking a draught of this wine; better, perhaps, if they never knew need of drink divine? Nay though it send them like beggars on, vowed to be endless quest, searching and seeking from dawn till dawn, still is their longing best, Thirsty they go, with their hearts afire waiting the brighter day, hunger they know and a pure desire after the better way. Better the quest, though with anguish blent with its yearnings vague yet deep; better by far than a dull content, lulling the soul to sleep. Ever and ever lures and leads up from the lowland's mire; up from the marsh with its bogs and reeds, higher and ever higher. Will-'o-the-wisp though it seem to be, dancing its endless dance, still it leads man out where his eyes may see over the wide expans. Better by far than to spend his days soul-bound by bolt and by bar, better go tramping down vagabond ways, trailing the morning star. Children's Bedtime Story ...

By Thornton W. Burgess

Be not too trustful of your eyes, Lest you may get a sad surprise. -Old Mother Nature.

IVE times Danny Meadow Mouse left his hiding place on the bank of a river and started toward a great, big, old log lying on the bank in the sun. Five times his courage failed him and he ran back. He had heard or seen nothing to frighten him back, but the feeling that he was right out in the open had been too much for him. But each time he had tried it he had become a little bolder and had gone a little farther.

The word Calumet means more than merely Baking Powder - it stands for dependability - purity and economy. It is the emblem of the highest quality leavener.

If it were possible for you to forget the name-to just ask for "the Best," in most cases the grocer would give you Calumet.

Experiments are expensive-especially on bake-day. To use leaveners simply because they cost a trifle less than Calumet is to invite failure. It generally means ruined bakings-the loss of time and expensive ingredients such as flour, sugar,
